U.S. May Ask Silesia Be Internationalized

To Oppose Russia on Control of Ruhr

By R. H. Shackford

MOSCOW, March 28.—(BUP)—The United States is prepared to counter a Russian demand for a voice in the control of the Ruhr with a demand for some kind of internationalization of industrial Silesia, now under Polish administration authoritative sources reported today.

DETAILS OF THE American plan involving Silesia were incomplete, but were expected to be in order when the issue comes up in the Big Four Council, probably early next week.

The plan would aim at killing two birds with one stone, opening an offensive against Soviet in-

The Potsdam agreement placed the German-Polish border along the Oder and Neisse, giving the administration of Silesia to Poland. The agreement also said that "the three heads of government reaffirm their opinion that the final delimitation of the western frontiers of Poland should await the peace settlement."

MODEST YOUNG HERO: A modest young hero is shown above as he sat making playthings in a sand pile Friday. He is 4-year-old Donald Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Scott, 10713 113 street, who Thursday afternoon was largely responsible for saving the life of 3-year-old Gary Madsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Soren Madsen, 11330 108 avenue.

MARSHALL REGARDS as unsatisfactory the compromise suggested by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov for defining the German assets, an issue which brought to a standstill the work on the Austrian treaty.

Quick thinking on the part of a 4-year-old boy, when seconds really counted, was instrumental on Thursday in snatching the life of his 3-year-old playmate from death.

ABOUT 4:20 P.M. 3-year-old Gary Madsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Soren Madsen, 11330 108 avenue, fell into a basement containing four feet of water. Four-year-old Donald Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Scott, 10713 113 street, standing nearby and sensing the danger, lost no time in running to his mother for help.

Mrs. Scott said she arrived at the scene and saw a ski cap and the back of a ski suit in the water. "At first I did not believe there could be a baby in there and thought perhaps my son had been fooled by seeing the clothing there," said Mrs. Scott. However, she stated "Donald was insistent and determined that something should be done."

THEN MRS. Scott, although recuperating after two months of

Boy Injured By Auto

A fractured left thigh, lacerations to the scalp and bruises were suffered by 8-year-old David Tough, 11820 77 street, when he was knocked off his bicycle. He said one of the automobile driven, police said, by Simon A. Simonovich, 10535 98 street.

Simonovich said he was proceeding south on the Fort road about 7 p.m. and when just south of 121 avenue, he saw two boys approaching on bicycle. He said one of the boys swung directly in front of the vehicle as he was about to pass them. He stated that he swerved and applied his brakes but could not avoid the collision.

Eleven-year-old David Sanderson, 11927 77 street, in company with Tough, corroborated the statement made by the driver. Smith's ambulance was summoned and the boy was removed to the Royal Alexandra hospital. Authorities said Friday he was in good condition.

Also involved in an accident about 12:35 a.m. Friday was Dr. W. H. Weinlos, 11219 100 avenue, who suffered minor cuts and bruised ribs when his auto collided with the rear of a parked truck on 106 street near 116 avenue.

Fierce Battle Rages in Greece

ATHENS, March 28 (Reuters).—A fierce battle between about 1,000 guerrillas and Greek regular forces is going on in central Greece, military sources in Athens stated today.

THE BATTLE began yesterday morning, these sources stated. Aircraft and artillery went into action around Mount Vardoulas in an attempt to capture the guerrilla stronghold of Artotynas, in central Greece.

Press reports said today that Artotynas had been captured, and that some 50 guerrillas have surrendered.

Jewish Underground Fires Oil Pipeline

JERUSALEM, March 28, (BUP)—A pipeline fire ignited by five Jewish Underground members raged uncontrolled for hours today in the heavily guarded oil reservation area on Haifa Bay.

The Jewish youths, disguised as Arabs but believed to be members of Irgun Zvai Leumi, sneaked past the military guards and thrust explosive charges under the Iraq Petroleum Co. pipeline.

Apparently they fired revolver shots to ignite the fuses and caused three explosions which shook the area. They jumped into a waiting truck, abandoned it at the closed gate and fled on foot.

Division Count Is 44-8

The government gave a decided 44-8 setback on division in the Legislative Assembly Thursday afternoon to a motion by W. J. Williams (Vet-Edmonton), asking that the government give "earnest consideration to setting up a commission to investigate the Ponoka and Oliver mental institutions and the mental defective's home in Red Deer and report back to the Legislature."

THOSE SUPPORTING Mr. Williams' resolution were J. Percy Page (Ind-Edmonton); A. Davison (Ind-Calgary); Elmer E. Roper (CCF-Edmonton); A. J. E. Liesner (CCF-Calgary); Mr. Williams; Arthur Wray (Ind. SC-Banff-Cochrane); L. D. Ward (Navy) and H. Harper Prowse (Army). H. B. MacDonald (Ind-Calgary) and F. C. Colborne (Air Force) were not present when the vote was taken.

Every member present on the joined in voting against the motion, government side of the house.

Say Crisis Looms On Bevin Policies

LONDON, March 28.—(AP)—Labor members who oppose the government's foreign policy insisted yesterday that Prime Minister Attlee will have to shuffle Foreign Secretary Bevin to some other job to avoid a major rift in the party.

INFORMANTS close to Attlee said they agreed there might be an "early" reshuffle in the cabinet but discounted the rumors that Bevin would be displaced.

Labor legislators who precipitated a rebellion against Bevin's policies last fall said Bevin will have to go sooner or later because "the crisis in British foreign policy threatens the existence of socialism."

These legislators said nearly 200 Labor members of Parliament were ready to force the foreign policy issue, contending the government news too close to United States policy and threatens ultimate war with Russia.

Crowd of 100,000 Goes on Rampage In British Ruhr Zone

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

DUESSELDORF, Germany, March 28, (AP)—Germans in a crowd of about 100,000 stoned British-occupied buildings and attacked British military cars today in a two-hour demonstration over food shortages. It was the most violent manifestation of unrest in the Ruhr since the occupation began, and the biggest rally since Hitler's days.

Two military cars were overturned and one was thrown in a park lake; another, carrying British and American correspondents, was stoned by demonstrators; windows in the three British buildings were smashed.

Traffic was paralyzed as the huge crowd milled through the public park in the centre of the city, listening to speeches by trade union leaders.

THE CROWD dispersed at noon. British officials say the 1,550-calorie ration scale has not been met for the last few weeks, and that some places received only 800 calories daily.

Workers paraded to the park, carrying banners with such slogans as "We are hungry," "Don't let our children starve," and "We want bread."

Two British jeeps bearing military insignia, were upset by the crowds. A military staff car carrying a uniformed correspondent was stoned twice, but no one was injured.

THE WHOLE demonstration had earmarks of systematic organization and British officials said it was political, but declined to name the party they believed responsible. German sources said Communists were responsible.

The latest bodies found in the mine were so badly burned and bruised that a rescue leader said identification might be difficult.

Falling chunks of coal, smashed timbers, and damaged mine equipment hindered the work of the rescue crews.

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—John L. Lewis said today the "111 coal miners, more or less" who lost their lives in a Centralia, Ill., mine explosion "have been murdered because of the criminal negligence of J. A. Krug."

Lewis said there was "too much blood smeared over our coal" and added:

"He (Krug) has failed to enforce the laws, the safety code of the industry which he negotiated with this witness..."

SENATE DEFEATS Bill on "Oleo"

OTTAWA, March 28, (CP)—The senate, by a vote of 38-22 which split both parties, yesterday defeated a bill which would have ended the prohibition against the manufacture, sale and importation of oleomargarine as a substitute for butter. Senator William E. (L'Oratoire) said his private bill to end the ban rejected for a second consecutive session after closing off a prolonged debate with the contention that defeat would extend a butter monopoly and deny consumers the right to buy a wholesome and legitimate substitute for a scarce commodity.

PROMISES BUDGET After Control Bill

OTTAWA, March 28, (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said in the Commons yesterday the budget will be brought down immediately after the house completes study of emergency control legislation, May 15 has been set as the new date on which emergency transitional powers come to an end. The current controls debate may come to an end before that date. Mr. Abbott said it was not possible to give a definite date.

Fortune Vanishes From Sand Dune

MILAN, March 28.—(Reuters).—A 10,000,000,000 lira (more than $44,000,000) Desert Army board of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, Hitler's desert commander, has vanished from a sand dune, it was reported today. The Milan evening paper Milan Sera quoted a returned Italian prisoner, Vincenzo Lana of Verona, as saying that when the landing of allied troops in Tunisia was imminent, retreating German soldiers hid the Desert Army money in a gasoline tank. The tank then was buried under a sand dune.

Italians Riot

BARI, Italy, March 28.—(BUP)—Unemployed Italians rioted today at Gioia Del Colle, 60 miles south of Bari, set fire to three buildings and proclaimed a general strike. Early reports said some persons were killed and many were injured.

Severe Quake

ROME, March 28.—(Reuters).—A severe earthquake tremor was felt in Palermo early today, according to the Italian news agency. The shock was also reported from Trapani, 45 miles west of Palermo. No damage has been reported so far.

Wave of Stabbings In Calcutta Area

CALCUTTA, March 28.—(AP)—A new wave of stabbings broke out here today, bringing the casualty toll to 20 dead and 160 injured since the start of Hindu-Muslim disorders three days ago.

Authorities said that while there had been several battles between Hindu and Muslim groups, most of the deaths resulted from stray assaults.

The 14-hour curfew already in effect in four districts of the city will be continued until the situation improves, it was announced.

PATNA, India, March 28.—(Reuters).—Troops returning the fire of police strikers in Gaya, near Patna, killed five policemen and wounded several more last night, it was learned today.

Strikers who seized government armories in Jamapur and Gaya have surrendered. In Patna, where almost 100 arrests were made yesterday, police were gradually returning to their posts today.

Hollywood Probe On Reds Planned

WASHINGTON, March 28.—(AP)—Representative J. Parnell Thomas (Rep. N.J.) said today the house of representatives committee on un-American activities which he heads will press a probe of Hollywood. Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association, testified yesterday that there are Communists in the movie industry. Johnston said the movie industry is trying to set its own house in order. But he opposed the idea of tossing out actors and writers merely because they are Communists.

Infant Burned

SAINT JOHN, N.B., March 28.—(CP)—Muriel Linda Robinson, six-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Robinson, was fatally burned early today when the crib in which she lay lit caught fire while her mother dozed in a nearby chair. The infant was unharmed by treatment with an inhalant which was being kept hot by an electric hotplate at the bedside.

Bob Taylor Mobbed By 5,000 Women

LONDON, March 28 (AP)—Robert Taylor received a bruised right eye last night when 5,000 excited London women mobbed him at the doors of the Empire theatre.

Seven policemen rescued him from surging fans who broke a glass door. Barbara Stanwyck, Taylor's wife, made a personal appearance for the premiere of her film "The Other Love" Miss Stanwyck was separated from her husband in the crush.

Large Increase In Accidents

The number of industrial accidents calling for the payment of claims under the Workmen's Compensation Act increased in 1946 to 23,068, according to the annual report of the board tabled in the legislature by Premier Ernest Manning.

IN 1945 the number of such accidents was 19,154, so that accidents increased by 3,914. This increase in number was attributed by the board to the growth in industrialization in the province.

The board paid out more than $2,300,000 in claims during the year.

THIS FIGURE is made up of actual compensation paid to the amount of $988,969; cost of pension awards, $774,838; medical aid payments, $489,858; from medical aid reserve, $410,813 and from sickleave reserve, $113,818.

The board was in a healthy financial condition with a total of $17,746,627 in various forms of investments.

Big Reparations Sought By Iran

MOSCOW, March 28.—(AP)—Iran served notice today that she would claim reparations at the peace conference from Germany for war damages listed at $955,000,000. Tories In Uproar At Convention

CHESTER BLOOM (Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau) Ottawa, March 28.—A can full of political gasoline was poured on already flaming factional tempers at the Dominion Progressive Conservative convention executive meeting this morning when an article in Maclean's magazine, just out, was distributed. Among other things, the article written by Blair Fraser gave high praise to John Bracken and his chief lieutenant, J. M. Macdonnell.

THE REBELLIOUS old-line Conservative party members who have been restless under what they term Bracken's "pussy-footing" leadership were instantly up in arms. They believed the article was inspired by the Bracken-Macdonnell group. They were particularly insulted by a phrase applied by the writer to some Conservative survivors of the last election as "lamentable dolts."

The article referred to the Conservative house group previous to the last election as the "pitiful rump" which had "survived 1940—a Tory handful dominated partly by its own majority of medio-

Ease Restrictions On Bread Making

OTTAWA, March 28.—(CP)—The prices board announced last night removal of certain restrictions governing sale and manufacture of bread, including limitation on loaf size and the return of unsold bakery products to producers. Officials stressed, however, that two restrictions remain: bakers are still required to use only a single sheet of buff-colored paper for wrapping, and the ready-sliced loaf, which requires extra wrapping, is still prohibited.

Mental Probe

tendents which he had quoted in his original address in the Throne Speech debate.

He told the government that he had sworn affidavits from persons who had been employed in the mental hospitals as to conditions there and pleaded for adoption of his motion.

HE WOULD BE happy if there was a report returned that his statements were not founded on fact, or if the commission he asked to be appointed was able to say that improvements were being brought about.

He suggested that the president of the provincial command of the Canadian Legion (S. C. Heckbert, Vermilion) should be a member of the committee.

Mr. Williams made a further suggestion that people being sent to mental institutions should be taken there in automobiles. He told of seeing an unfortunate girl, under escort of a uniformed mounted policeman, being taken to Ponoka and being stared at by passengers of a train on which she was a passenger.

THE MOTION was seconded by Arthur Wray (Ind. SC-Banff-Cochrane) who also told of overcrowded conditions in the mental hospitals.

Only speaker on the government side of the house in this debate was Premier Ernest Manning, who denied a statement in the preamble to the resolution which indicated there were public misgivings over the conduct of mental hospitals.

The mental hospitals were subject to regular independent inspection by various medical organizations, he said, and none of their reports had indicated a very serious condition.

IN VIEW OF the evidence given here, there is no justification whatever for setting up a commission," he said.

Public misgivings over the conduct of the mental hospitals were widespread, Mr. Roper said, when he rose in support of the motion. "If this house does not pass the resolution, additional misgivings will be created," he said. "If things are as they ought to be why does not the government permit investigation?"

The government would be wise to permit the investigation if they have nothing to conceal, was the opinion of J. Percy Page (Ind.-Edmonton). He instanced the recent sittings of the public accounts committee as an example of the way in which he thought the government should act in this matter.

A. J. E. Liesemer (CCF-Calgary) thought the government should appoint the commission, which even though it should vindicate the government might produce fruitful results.

Confirm Suspension

TORONTO, March 28.—(CP)—Toronto Board of Education at public meeting last night confirmed the suspension of Lorne H. Clarke as principal of the east-end Malvern Collegiate—a suspension which resulted in a three-day strike of students—and officially relieved him of his duties. The board ruled that he would receive full salary until June 30, and referred the question of his future position to the board of education's management committee.

After Rough Handling Govt. Control Bill Gets First Reading

By John LeBlanc

OTTAWA, March 28, (CP)—After rough handling in its embryo stage, the government's "omnibus" bill to extend 57 emergency controls was definitely embarked on its way through parliament today.

Chinese in B.C. May Get Vote

VICTORIA, March 28.—(CP)—Extension of the franchise to East Indians and Chinese residents of British Columbia, was contained in a bill introduced in the provincial legislature here yesterday.

OTHER AMENDMENTS to the Provincial Elections Act contained in the bill were:

1. The only Japanese allowed to vote will be those who have served in Canada's armed forces.

2. B.C.'s native Indians will be enfranchised only if they served in the armed forces, are living off reservations, or have been enfranchised under the Dominion Indian Act.

3. Doukhobors, Hutterites and Mennonites who served in the armed forces, together with their wives and children, will be given the vote.

4. APPOINTMENTS of returning officers will be made permanent during good conduct.

5. Revision of administrative machinery to provide for perpetual registration in a master file of all persons registered.

Sask. Takes Power To Control Rents

REGINA, March 28.—(CP)—A bill to provide price control was described in the Saskatchewan legislature yesterday by Premier Douglas as a measure "to prevent what happened to the people of the United States on decontrol" and by L. T. Proctor (L.-Moosemin) as "star chamber methods."

DURING AN hour-long debate before the bill passed second reading on a recorded vote of 36-6, Mr. Douglas said it was hoped the federal government would remove controls gradually in which case the bill would not be used.

The bill would give the CCF government power to control prices of rents and services under order-in-council if the federal government lifted price controls while the Saskatchewan Legislature was not in session.

harbor boards, crown companies and similar agencies.

OTHER RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. Increase in the rates of unemployment insurance benefit payments and extension of the period in which persons may draw benefits.

2. Establishment of a "more accurate" cost-of-living index.

3. Selective immigration.

4. Overhauling of the Canada Shipping Act.

5. A national apprenticeship training plan.

6. Equipping of Canadian ports on a basis comparable to United States and European harbors.

7. Overtime payment for postal clerks, letter carriers, mail porters and customs and excise employees.

DISCUSSING price control, the Congress declared their maintenance was necessary now "if the evils of inflation are to be avoided."

On income tax, the congress asked that the exemptions be boosted from $660 to $1,000 for single persons and from $1,200 to $2,400 for married persons.

The brief declared the National Housing Act should be "removed from the control of private banks and mortgage corporations." Loans should be made directly through a government agency such as the Bank of Canada.

"MORE ATTENTION" was sought in the provision of rental housing for low-income groups.

critics, partly by the self-appointed Warwicks of Queen's park and Bay Street.

BUT WHAT REALLY burned the old-liners up was a following phrase that the 1945 election was disappointing to the national party John Bracken was trying to build, adding: "Some of its good men had been defeated; practically all of its lamentable doits had been elected."

The air in the executive meeting room was heated with flaming comments on these charges. The old-liners regarded Mr. Fraser's piece as an inspired and planned counter-attack against their drive to oust Mr. Macdonnell from the presidency of the national association. It was alleged that the article had been approved by R. A. Bell, the national director.

Insinuations were made, so it is reported, that Mr. Bracken's course is directed to achieving, when the moment of crisis comes, a coalition between left-wing Progressive Conservatives and right-wing Liberals to combat socialism in Canada.

WHETHER DELIBERATELY planned or not some of the old-line Conservatives believe that is the motive in what they term Mr. Bracken's "pussy-footing" and "copying" of Prime Minister King's strategy. They think the tone of the MacLean's article clearly indicates this future intention of the Bracken group including such men as Gordon Graydon, Mr. Macdonnell, and A. L. Smith, Calgary. Mr. Smith is an open advocate of such a coalition, and Mr. Bracken's record as an astute organizer and leader of coalition in Manitoba gives some weight to their suspicion.

The child was too heavy for her to carry out of the wet and slippery basement so she called for help.

LOTTUS MAGUIRE, 11301 108 avenue, then came to the rescue and carried the child to his home.

Mr. Maguire said that as he carried the boy, no signs of life could be seen, or felt.

Then came minutes of waiting and watching while a nurse, identified so far only as Mrs. Waterman, administered artificial respiration. Her efforts were rewarded, and soon the child began to "come around," and show sufficient signs of life to enable a quick trip to the hospital.

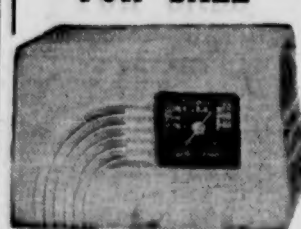

On Friday morning Royal Alexandra hospital authorities said Gary Madsen had had a good breakfast, and so far was "doing well."

De-Rationed

The end of meat rationing is of course welcomed by Canadians everywhere. Not so much because they want to eat more meat, but because coupon-buying of anything is and must be a nuisance. The housewife at the counter will no longer have to prosecute a search for tokens among the highly variegated contents of the suit-case which she calls a purse. And if friend husband spies a particularly juicy steak in a shop window he will be able to walk right in and call for it as in the good old pre-coupon days. They will both be thankful.

Not that there is more meat in the country than there has been. Actually there is less being produced now than when hog-raising set new all-time marks a couple of years ago. At last reports our shipments of pork products to Europe were away behind schedule. A reason given by the Minister of Finance for discarding the ration arrangement is that in post-war days it has been difficult to operate and costly for the results attained.

Wherefore Mr. Abbot urges the housekeepers of the land to establish a rationing system of their own, by buying only so much meat as the family really need, thereby leaving as much as possible for export. Cynics had better not start sneering yet as to the possible response to this appeal for voluntary restraint. It used to be stated very positively that Canadians ate more meat when it was rationed than when it wasn't!

Anyway, there is no likelihood that the restrictions will be reimposed after a while, so nobody needs to go on a meat "binge" to celebrate the release from coupon bondage.

Industry Catching Up

It cannot be news to any Albertan that industrial establishments are becoming much more numerous in this province. The evidence is apparent in every considerable centre. In all these new factories, repair shops and assembly places have opened, and the old ones have expanded or are in process of expanding. The significance is plain. The trend is toward industrial development, and the pace is rapid.

But most people will experience some surprise as they read the figures compiled by the Marketing Board showing how fast this growth is. During last year and the opening months of 1947 new industries have been started or projected to the number of 105. Alberta manufactured products last year totaled the value of $235,000,000. Payrolls increased $29,800,000, to a total of $192,000,000.

Alberta has been, is, and long will be, distinctively a farming province. But it is rapidly becoming less exclusively so. Industrial interests are making long strides, the industrial population growing at a good rate, the turn-over of industrial products gaining notably, occupations of our people becoming more varied, and the approach toward a more self-contained economy is marked.

In no sense is this introducing an unhealthy rivalry between town and country. On the contrary, they are becoming more closely inter-dependent. The farmer's local markets are expanding. His facilities for getting tools, machinery, repairs, and occupational and family needs are improving. Industry and agriculture are complementary, not conflicting. The more industrial development proceeds, the more buying Albertans will do at home, the greater will be the local circulation of money, the more stable conditions will become.

An exclusively farming or exclusively industrial community is subject to unavoidable disadvantages, and to the ever-present possibility that the single agent of wealth-production may fall upon bad times. A well balanced economy is less liable to violent fluctuations, less dependent upon circumstances in places far away, less affected by outside factors.

It is the great good fortune of the people of this province that they have the opportunity to build up such an economic structure and are making good headway in turning the opportunity to account.

The Amateur Theatre

Selection of the Edmonton Community Theatre to represent Alberta at the Dominion drama festival at London, Ontario, and the nomination of Mr. Frank Holroyd, also of Edmonton, as the best actor, should be a source of satisfaction to all Edmontonians who believe that the cultural arts have more than a decorative value.

Gradually the movie, an excellent vehicle in its own field, has taken a predominant place in entertainment, which is all the more reason why the amateur stage should have a prominent place in the cultural life of any community.

Besides taking the place of the commercial theatre the community movement has been able to offer the public much that the former could not—workshop experiments which the commercial theatre dare not venture for box office reasons which, however sordid, had to be taken in account if actors and actresses were to live.

Edmonton Community Theatre's success is only one reason for congratulation. The other is that the movement it represents, after the trying war years, has taken on an apparently auspicious new lease of life.

They Said it Out Loud

Representatives of the United States and Great Britain told the Disarmament Commission their countries will not disarm until the peace treaties are signed, the United Nations organization has shown that it can keep peace, and atomic energy has been placed under a properly qualified and fully empowered international control body.

The only difference between these two countries and others is that the two have said openly what none of them will do. Neither Russia nor France nor any other country will scrap its defences until assured that it will not thus put itself at the mercy of a neighbor or a combination of neighbors. To suppose anything else would be to assume that senility had overtaken the governments of the world or some of them.

Any attempt to construe this plain declaration as implying hostility to disarmament, or indifference on the subject, will be a willful distortion of fact. It is simply a statement that neither Washington nor London has taken leave of common sense, and neither is beguiled by suppositions that this jangling, snarling world is entirely made up of peace-loving states or of states controlled by trustworthy leaders and parties.

If the world is to be blessed with disarmament it is along this realistic line the goal will have to be approached and reached. The United States and Britain deserve the thanks of mankind for saying plainly what every thinking person knows—that there is no other possible line of approach.

In London there is a movement to pay bridesmaids. Here comes another union to go on strike.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1887: 60 Years Ago

Late outrages against Chinese in Vancouver have caused the British Columbia legislature to suspend the city charter and vest all authority in the legislature.

The snowstorms of March 1 were unprecedented in the annals of Canada. Lumbermen report from 12 to 20 feet of snow in the woods, and work is impossible. At Edmonton there has been less than a foot and a half of snow on the ground all winter, and we have had absolutely no storms except during one week in February.

In Fergus, Montana, the cowboys have been called off the range as it is impossible to ride over it any longer. The cattle have been left to their fate. The CPR is arranging for a temporary service of steamers from Vancouver to Japan and China.

1897: 50 Years Ago

London: It is reported here on good authority that the secretary for the colonies, Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, acting under great parliamentary pressure, has sent President Kruger a strongly worded protest against alleged breaches of the London convention on the part of the South African republic. It is presumed the infractions referred to consist in the reported understanding with Germany and the recent defensive alliance entered into by the Transvaal and the Orange Free State, Great Britain claiming the right under the convention to control the foreign relations of the South African republics.

1907: 40 Years Ago

Fort Saskatchewan is all agog with a rosy dream of a mining boom. Yesterday a Swede came into town from Grassy Lake with a few samples of lead which he said he had picked out of shales on a farm there.

Regina: When he found out he had been elected by the action of a farmer who stuffed a ballot box, Dr. Tyerman, member for one of the northern seats in the legislature, immediately resigned. The legislature has now declared Donaldson, his opponent, elected.

Montreal: The annual report of the CPR shows a net surplus of $7,462,524.

1937: 10 Years Ago

Robert Christie, superintendent of the telephone system, told the city council that unless the system gets an appropriation of $18,000 for the extension of the South Side telephone exchange this year the department will have to refuse applications for service in that part of the city.

Total par value of bonds in default in the city sinking fund is $2,178,891 of which $736,500 represents bonds of the province of Alberta or guaranteed by the province.

Insurgent members of the Social Credit party in caucus gave the Aberhart government a new lease of life for three months on condition that at the end of that time Social Credit legislation will be brought down and put into effect.

A Briton Writes of Industry

BY ELMORE PHILPOTT

Whenever I take a trip in the United States these days I am appalled by the hot breath of the antagonism between classes, races and groups.

For instance, you can find fervent admirers of Henry Ford. You can find fervent admirers of Henry Wallace. But I have run across very few Americans who, at the moment, would express admiration of both Henrys.

I have come across a big British business executive who does admire both Ford and Wallace. He is A. P. Young, one of the most respected managers in British industry. He has just written a book, "The World of Industry." British schools have already adopted this book as a text. It is educational—designed to show how industry fits into the world picture.

Young is not ashamed of industry but proud of it. He doesn't waste time talking about "those dark, satanic mills." He tries to show how dark spots in the industrial picture can be brightened up. But all this is incidental to his main line—that there is a purpose to human life, that nations and classes can live and work together, that labor and management are not enemies but partners.

THE BRITISH author writes as one who has made a conspicuous personal success of industrial management. He cites significant little incidents, such as when he became disgusted with a messy, untidy gloomy "core shop" in one of the vast electrical plants he managed.

He decided to build a completely new shop. They took pains with details like the color scheme. They provided washrooms as fine as in the best big city hotels. As a result was not only human contentment but "production soared."

"The girls were brighter and happier. An experiment was made by introducing an electric gramophone. The girls were so enthusiastic they clubbed together and bought records. They were played from 10 to 15 minutes several times a day. Productivity increased 7% through this cause alone."

THERE HAS BEEN argument over Ernest Bevin's foreign policy, but there was no argument over Bevin's management of British manpower during the war.

Mr. Young was one of Bevin's right hand men on that job of labor-management relationship—representing management. He tells an interesting story of Bevin coming down to the (Young's) country home to spend the week-end. Like most other families on both sides of the Atlantic the Young home was maidless during the war.

After Sunday dinner tired Ernie Bevin gets to work and washes the dishes. When the womenfolk try to thank him, he remarks "There is one other man in the cabinet who would have done that." To their natural query, he answered, "Churchill."

I MET THE AUTHOR when he was on this continent last year giving Canada and the United States the once over, especially in regard to industrial relations. I interviewed the noted visitor on the radio.

I got the impression then—and more so from his book—that while he thought the United States was ahead of Britain in industrial processes, the reverse was true in the field of human relations. He states that Britain is at least a generation ahead of the U.S.A. in getting people to work together and like it.

THIS MODEST VOLUME is in no sense a text book on industrial relations. It is intended as an introduction to industry. But I have the impression that business executives and trade union members might study and ponder some of Young's thoughts on our world.

"Problems of the future are not in the determinate realms of science but in the indeterminate sphere of human relationships. We are entering a new era, where a new house of human relationships, embracing the whole human family, must be established."

He quotes Rousseau: "Science without morality is a curse."

Mr. Young thinks that humanity is approaching the time when there can be plenty for every human being on earth—when mankind will not have to drudge and toil at unwanted work.

But he thinks that work which people want to do—and like to do—is among the greatest of blessings.

The Trade Peace Treaty

BY BRUCE HUTCHISON

In the Charter of the United Nations the world has the draft of an international law to prevent military war. In the trade charter drawn up by the chief trading nations at London last autumn the world is asked to accept a parallel law to prevent economic war. The two charters are part of each other—an attempt to grapple with all the cases of war and to build a more tolerable daily life for all the world's peoples.

It has to be understood in the first place that the trade charter is only in tentative form so far. It was drafted by government experts (Canada taking a prominent part) and it has yet to be approved by governments. Before it is ratified the possibility of restoring world trade will be tested at the Geneva tariff conference in April.

IF, AT THIS conference, the nations can agree to reduce the barriers to trade, if they can see the prospect of an expanding multi-lateral commerce, then it is to be expected they will ratify the charter and bind themselves to fair trade methods. If the tariff conference fails there will be no use in laying down theoretical laws for fair trade if the nations cannot agree in the first place to engage in such trade.

Hence the charter is held in reserve until the test of the tariff conference has been settled one way or the other. If at Geneva the barriers to trade are actually reduced, the charter will be approved and an International Trade Organization established under the United Nations. For the first time then the world would have a trading law and a policeman to enforce it.

The charter is a volume of 102 pages so technical as to bewilder the layman.

Before dealing with the conduct of foreign trade the charter lays down the fundamental principle that this trade must depend in large measure on the internal prosperity of the nations. If trade is to prosper nations must maintain high employment at home, for obviously a depressed nation will be able to buy few foreign goods and will be inclined to prevent imports in an attempt to protect its own ailing industries.

FOR THIS REASON the nations are asked under the charter to bind themselves to maintain high employment.

employment by measures of their own choice, appropriate to their individual political and economic institutions; but they agree that such measures should avoid the creation of trouble for other nations, should not damage the general structure of world trade. This means, for example, that a nation should not seek to maintain employment merely by the exclusion of foreign goods for such methods, of course, would destroy the whole purpose of the charter.

Each signatory agrees next to develop its own economic resources and to raise its standards of productivity on a maximum scale for its own good and the good of the world at large. It also agrees to take whatever action it may consider feasible to eliminate sub-standard conditions of labor. Where a nation persistently exports far more than it imports and thus makes difficulties for other nations, it agrees to take action to cure this condition.

A SPECIAL safeguard is inserted in the charter to cover a nation which suffers suddenly from a decline in the demand for its goods in the world market. In the face of such a disaster, the International Trade Organization is instructed to modify its rules temporarily for the protection of the distressed nation until its crisis has passed. The chief emergency measure thus authorized would permit a nation to apply quantitative restrictions on imports to rectify a serious unfavorable trade balance.

The Bulletin's Readers Say:

FIRST THINGS FIRST
Editor, Bulletin—From the line of propaganda emanating from the city offices these days, it would appear that, in the opinion of our mayor at least, Edmonton has only one problem, and that is to establish daylight saving time in the city.

To this end, good relations with our rural neighbors are to be ruthlessly sacrificed, and the time of our paid officials wasted on a home a substance of such deadly question which leaves many of us entirely cold.

Surely we must have some real problems on which our time could be better spent, instead of dividing our people over a non-essential issue.

What is the council doing about the deplorable condition of the traffic decks of our main bridges, none of which is fit to cross with a car? What about the taxi situation? No action there. What about the housing situation? What about our outside areas with their transportation problems, and the unregulated shantytowns extending beyond them. What about other problems?

I suggest that our council had better concentrate upon the solution of some of these vital problems rather than waste the time upon non-essentials.

Sport for Veterans

BY HARPER PROWSE, MLA

The recent decision of the Alberta command of the Canadian Legion to take an active part in the sponsoring of sports in the province marks, I believe, the beginning of a new era of public service by the Legion. Hitherto the chief task of the Legion has been to serve our veterans by providing the machinery through which they can claim pensions and other benefits to which they are legally entitled and to press governments for more lenient legislation.

The work of the Legion was so successful during the war years, that, with sympathetic government co-operation, the veteran who served with the Canadian forces in World War II received just as much assistance in getting back into civilian life as he could wish. Although there are still some issues under dispute the Legion now feels that it is strong enough and has the time and the money to serve the public as well as its own members.

FOR A NUMBER of years now the larger Legion branches and some of the smaller ones have been promoting sport. Now, with the appointment of a provincial sports director in the person of W. R. Blythman, a veteran of both wars, it is planning to stimulate interest in all the centres where it has branches, especially in the towns and rural points.

The officers of the Command have appointed Blythman to make a survey of the possibilities of developing sports under Legion sponsorship throughout the province so that he can make a comprehensive report and recommendations for future action to the Provincial Convention which will be held in Edmonton June 8 to 11 inclusive.

The Command will provide several trophies out of its funds and will try to enlist the co-operation of interested organizations and individuals. All Legion branches will be placed on the development of junior and juvenile sport. The purpose is not to develop semi-professional teams but to stimulate widespread interest and participation.

WITH NEARLY 200 branches scattered throughout the province and with a membership which is increasing daily the Legion hopes to be able to make a contribution in the field of sports which will be of benefit to the province as a whole. In recent months there has been a growing feeling in the Legion that the best way it can benefit the veterans who live in the province is to make the province a better place for everybody to live in. Up to the present many of the larger branches have been working on this basis and have been sponsoring hockey, football, and softball teams. Now it is hoped to zone the province, organize zone competitions and encourage every branch to sponsor at least one team.

The Subsidy in Britain

BY FRANK B. WALKER

LONDON: Cost of living subsidies were introduced into Britain as a temporary measure to prevent price increases arising directly out of the war. Today, though the war has been over nearly 18 months, they are more necessary than ever before, and there is little prospect of their being abandoned.

Last April Mr. Dalton estimated these subsidies would cost the Treasury $1335 millions during the current financial year. In fact, the bill is approximately $1,600 millions, of which food accounts for $1,480 millions, coal $60 millions and cotton and wool cloth $32 millions.

The growth of the subsidies is interesting. In 1940-41 the cost was well under $400 millions for all subsidies. It reached $400 millions in 1942 some $600 millions in 1943 and remained almost constant until the end of 1945. Then the termination of lend-lease and higher prices for food commodities boosted it sharply to close on $1,200 millions at the end of 1946 and to the present figure today.

The bill is enormous but against this it is pointed out some 3,000,000 workers have wages directly linked to the cost of living index. Any curtailment of subsidies would have resulted in substantial raises for this group, which in turn would have led, in all probability, to demands from other groups for wage boosts. It was just such a spiral the subsidies were designed to prevent.

The Financial Times, in a discussion of the subsidy problem, saw little hope of any reduction in the cost of these subsidies as a result of a fall in the price of agricultural products.

The policy of guaranteeing minimum prices for home agriculture means that there is little possibility of any material saving in the cost of subsidizing home agriculture, which accounts for roughly one-half of the total burden. As far as imported food is concerned, the prospect is little better. The world food shortage may continue for some time yet and in any event the price to be paid for a part of Britain's food purchased during the years immediately ahead has already been fixed under long term agreements.

An alternative suggestion which has been made is that subsidies should be discontinued and the cost passed on to the consumer, compensating the latter by an equivalent remission of taxation. The difficulty here is to insure that the adjustments fall fairly upon all sections of the community.

A second suggestion is to hold subsidies at present level and pass on any increases to the consumer, but again the danger exists that these increases will be followed by widespread demands for higher wages.

A clue to the government's attitude was seen in the Economic White paper published recently. This stated "no guarantee can be given that some increases in prices may not be necessary to mitigate the subsidies' burdens upon the Exchequer and the taxpayer."

Already a wide gap exists between money earned and goods available. Subsidies have effectively maintained price levels in staple commodities, and it is probable they will be continued as a necessary form of social service until such time as a general improvement in Britain's economic condition allows for their removal without undue hardship.

As things stand today that will not be for some time to come.

"Dry" Amendment Failure in P.E.I.

CHARLOTTETOWN, March 28. — (CP) — An amendment to the P.E.I. Prohibition Act, passed by the Legislature two years ago, has not reduced the illicit liquor traffic in this province, the purpose for which it was intended, George Saville (L-Fifth King's) said yesterday in the Legislature. He was speaking on the Throne Speech debate. Dr. Saville said that "time has proven that those of us who voted against the amendment were right."

(THE AMENDMENT provided that doctors could issue prescriptions good for six months and permitting the holder to obtain a weekly quota of liquor from the government vendor stores.) Mr. Saville said he believed there was "more moonshine than ever" sold under the new set-up.

Manitoba Indicates 4 Million Surplus

WINNIPEG, March 28. — (CP) — Premier Stuart Gordon, who is also provincial treasurer, announced in his budget speech in the Manitoba Legislature yesterday that the province's indicated surplus for the fiscal year ending March 31 will be $4,485,000. It previously had been placed at $1,973,000.

New Tussle With Law No Card, No Clothes, Poor Sally!

SALLY RAND

NEW YORK, March 28. — (AP) — Sally Rand, the dancer who plays peek-a-boo from behind fans, had a legal tussle yesterday in supreme court with the police department, which has denied her a cabaret employee's identification card in a dispute over Miss Rand's attire—or lack of it.

The dancer's lawyer, Hyman Barshay, appeared to seek an order compelling police to issue the card. Barshay also revealed that police had suspended for three days, the cabaret license of the Greenwich Village Inn, because it permitted the dancer to appear without the card. Sally said in an affidavit that policemen assigned to observe her performance "have assured themselves by personal inspection of the propriety of my inner and outer dress."

The court ordered a further hearing Friday.

B.C. Plans Drop Liquor Permits

VICTORIA, March 28. — (CP) — Cocktail bars or any public sale of liquor by the glass will not be sanctioned in British Columbia, the Legislature learned last night as the governments' long-awaited amendments to the Liquor Act were introduced in the house.

THE AMENDMENTS would abolish liquor permits and place new controls on the liquor trade to curb drinking by minors and trafficking in beer parlor licences. Also announced last night was the setting up of a fund under the direction of the minister of education "for promotion . . . of education in respect to the proper use of alcohol."

The bill will give wide powers to Liquor Commissioner W. F. Kennedy to require beer parlor licences to provide satisfactory rooming accommodation and the other services that go with a hotel. However, meals in the beer parlor proper will not be allowed. To stop dubious transfers of beer

Dad's Scolding Soon Forgotten

VANCOUVER, March 28. (CP) — Reprimanded by his father for wasting money, 16-year-old Brian Tully was happy yesterday despite the scolding. He has drawn "Silver Fame" in the Irish hospitals sweepstakes on the Grand National and with it comes a chance of a lifetime—$100,000 should his horse win. He bought the ticket under the nom-de-plume of "Birds Eye."

"I reprimanded him when he bought the ticket for wasting money," said Brian's father. "But I'm keeping quiet now."

Lions Prowl Near Royal Picnickers

By LOUIS WULFF
KRUGER PARK, Transvaal, March 28. — (Reuters) — Black-maned lions prowled in nearby bushes as the Royal family enjoyed a picnic tea yesterday 12 miles inside the 8,000-square-mile game preserve here.

Tourists are usually forbidden to alight from their automobiles, but arrangements had been made by the warden of the preserve and lookouts were posted on high rocks around the picnic party.

THE ROYAL PARTY saw no lions during the first part of the trip because the grass was high after early rains, but they saw herds of wildebeest and impalas—types of antelope — sebras and tropical birds.

For the first time in the African tour the King's automobile led the procession so that the Royal party could have the first view of the game.

To Establish School at Rivers, Man.

Canada Plans Combined Training Of Army, Navy, Air Force Units

OTTAWA, March 28. (CP) — Canada's first joint air school is to be established shortly at Rivers, Man., where army and air force units together will take combined training in land-air offensive and defensive action, Defence Minister Claxton announced today.

IN RELEASING details of the school at Rivers, about 135 miles west of Winnipeg where the RCAF had its largest navigational school during the war, Mr. Claxton also said the paratroop training centre at Camp Shilo, Man., is expected to move there within six weeks.

The army and air force components of the school will be ready for training about Sept. 1, the army with a strength of about 650 and the air component with a strength of about 785. More than 350 men will be undergoing training at all times, most of them from the army whose every arm will take the courses.

The navy will send squadrons to train in army co-operating work and will provide instructors who will train the other arms in the function of carrier-based aircraft.

ALL PHASES of aerial combined operations, from transporting equipment and men by air and a glider section will serve the whole school with American Waco gliders, 26 of which have already been delivered, the minister said. A number of larger, British Horsa gliders are expected to arrive soon.

The air force will train army glider and light aircraft pilots.

The minister said full use will be made of existing airport and buildings at Rivers and it was considered an advantage to have all phases of aerial combined operations taught at one school rather than at numerous schools as was being done in the United States and Britain.

THE ARMY SIDE will divide into main groups, composed of an air support group which concentrates on offensive air support and an airborne group which will deal with such questions as air portability, air supply and maintenance, and parachute instruction.

In addition to such items as jeeps, light armored vehicles and guns, complete mobile workshops will be carried aloft in the future by Canada's army air force. Also, the air force is faced with the problem of moving by air their normally semi-static ground maintenance equipment.

The RCAF component will form a tactical wing composed of a fighter-reconnaissance squadron, a tactical bomber squadron and a transport and glider-towing flight. An air observation post squadron, flown by artillery officers, also will be maintained.

MR. CLAXTON said army units will first send selected candidates for training who will return to their regiments to pass on the basic principles. Later whole companies will go to Rivers.

Duchess of Windsor Victim

Expert Jewel Theft Baffles Scotland Yard

LONDON, March 28. (Reuters) — Scotland Yard, aided by police throughout the world, today still is baffled by the theft of £20,000 ($80,000) worth of jewels from the Duchess of Windsor nearly six months ago.

ALTHOUGH ONE of the widest international searches in the history of jewel thefts has been launched, there still is no clue as to who planned and carried out the robbery at Ednam Lodge in Sunningdale, Berkshire, where the Duke and Duchess of Windsor were staying last October. The robbery took place on Oct. 16 while the servants were at tea.

Every clue, however slight, has been pursued in a search that has laid a trail to remote parts of Europe and out of the way spots on the North American continent. Every month police dossiers—most countries have one—on the subject increase in size.

Scotland Yard is in constant communication with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in the United States, the French Surete Generale, and other criminal police headquarters throughout the world.

Every week, continental or Transatlantic telephone calls set in motion another sweep of underworld haunts or a sudden raid on the new "hideout" of an international "fence."

BUT SO FAR every effort has ended in failure. There is still not even the slightest clue to where the jewelry is—or the slightest proof who plotted, and achieved, what the police admit to be one of the most skillfully-planned thefts of modern times.

The police have various theories as to the present whereabouts of the jewels. The most generally accepted is that they are still in Britain, hidden away in the hope the thieves will get their chance to smuggle them out of the country.

About the magnitude of this task, the thieves can never have been in doubt. Only the real "big bosses" of the underworld would even contemplate the handling of such booty, each piece of which is as comprehensively listed as the pedigree of racing and breeding stock.

Even breaking the separate pieces of jewelry in the most expert manner would fail to eliminate all connection with their origin, especially as police forces throughout the world now have complete and detailed lists as well as photographs of all the missing jewels.

CUSTOMS OFFICERS at all airports, seaports, railway stations and road frontier posts are on the lookout, pawnbrokers and other dealers in precious stones have been circularized, and the most slender clue is pounced upon.

There are still rewards totalling £4,000 ($16,000) for recovery of the jewels.

The mass of the earth has been estimated as weighing about six sextillion, 600 quintillion short tons.

Offer "Solution" Daylight Saving

Suggestion that where longer summer evenings are wanted by any town or city this could be accomplished by an adjustment of working hours in that town or city, and not by means of daylight saving, is contained in a statement made Friday by the Alberta Farmers' Union, the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and the Alberta Federation of Agriculture.

THIS SUGGESTION, it was stated, was brought to the attention of a committee in the Alberta Legislature dealing with the subject. The organizations quoted have joined forces to oppose any system of two-time system for the province because of the "confusion which would ensue and the hardship which would be caused to agriculture."

These organizations, and the United Farmers of Alberta, "stand firm for one uniform time system throughout the province with no exceptions and no discrimination," it was stated.

"The farmers of Alberta who comprise over 50 per cent of the population have given us definite instructions on the subject by resolutions passed unanimously at each annual convention of these bodies."

"Our stand of uniformity of time has been made known to the Alberta government by representations made to the cabinet during several months past. We have urged them to accept the responsibility of maintaining one time system for the province."

"In our opinion the time system is of such importance to all of us that it should not be subject to juggling by municipalities or cities. It should be changed only by consent of the majority of the people of Alberta," the statement said.

Roper Impatient For House Return

Anxiety as to when he was going to get a return for which he had asked on March 4 was expressed in the Legislature Thursday afternoon by Elmer E. Roper (CCF-Edmonton).

MR. ROPER was seeking information as to the number of cars which had been sold by the government, the price obtained for them and their purchasers.

The government benches were silent. But when Arthur Wray (Ind.-SC-Banff-Cochrane) asked when he was to get a return dealing with the amount of money spent in a local improvement district for roads and bridges, he did get an answer.

"I haven't the slightest idea," Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, said.

Before the Magistrate

A statement by Magistrate A. I. Miller in city police court Thursday morning could be taken as a warning by motorists. After having five motorists appear before him on traffic offences he said, "I think we'll have to start cancelling licences. We seem to get much better results when we do that."

HE DID suspend the license of Ian Brockie, 11605 90 street, who appeared on a charge of speeding. Brockie will now be without a licence for three months, and was also ordered to pay a fine of $25 and costs or 35 days imprisonment. ### Claims by Wray Refuted

Ottawa Kept Promises, Manning Tells House

Charges by Arthur Wray, (Ind.-SC-Banff-Cochrane) that the Dominion government had reneged on its agreement to return certain tax fields to the province upon expiration of the wartime tax transfer agreement were denied by Premier Ernest Manning Thursday while the Legislature was in committee considering a bill to validate the Dominion's tax transfer agreement with Alberta.

IT WAS WELL KNOWN, Premier Manning said, that he held no brief for the Dominion government, but it had lived up to its agreement and those provinces that did not wish to sign the agreement were allowed the same tax fields they had enjoyed during the war.

Mr. Wray objected to a clause which gave the agreement a term of five years, without option of termination on a year's notice. The Alberta government had tried to have such a clause inserted in the agreement, Mr. Manning said, but this was refused. The province then had asked that the agreement should have a three-year life, but this too was turned down by the senior government and most of the other provinces.

The question was asked if the recent drop in Alberta's population would affect the amount under the agreement. Mr. Manning replied that the population was taken as it was last year, then compared with the population when the agreement terminates. If there is a general rise the province reaps the benefit.

IF THERE IS a serious drop the province would lose so much, but annual fluctuation did not affect the payments.

A question was asked by Mr. Wray about a clause in the bill which precludes the province from granting permission to municipalities to collect income tax. The Banff-Cochrane member thought this right was taken from the municipalities without representation from them.

Mr. Manning pointed out that no Alberta municipality collected the tax and none were interested in collecting it. The clause was an undertaking by the province that in the unlikely chance of some municipality asking for the right, it would be refused.

This bill was held for further consideration in committee.

Delay Approval Oil Sands Advance

Debate was adjourned on principle of a bill which would have given legislative approval to an order-in-council advancing $100,000 to Oil Sands Limited and Bitumount Holding Co. Ltd., when the bill came up for second reading in the legislature Thursday afternoon.

THE ORDER to which the bill made reference was passed on Sept. 24 1946.

The bill as printed contains a review of the money advanced to finance a scheme for construction of a pilot plant for extraction of oil from oil sands. It discloses that with the addition of this $100,000 the companies concerned have received government aid to the extent of $365,000.

Elmer E. Roper (CCF-Edmonton) was called to order by the Speaker when he reported that a statement of claim alleging certain breaches of contract had been filed against the company. It was ruled that since the matter was before the courts it could not be discussed in the house.

HE WAS OPPOSED to sending good money after bad, Mr. Roper said, and suggested an investigation into the company and its activities.

Arthur Wray (Ind.-SC-Banff-Cochrane) said he could hardly believe that government members would be willing to pass this legislation without first knowing the circumstances.

It was a case of tails I win, heads you lose," A. J. E. Leisner (CCF-Calgary) said when he rose to discuss the bill. The government was footing the bill for a private company. If the company was successful, the government gets its money back, if it failed the government got nothing.

J. Percy Page (Ind.-Edmonton) adjourned the debate.

P. Overgaard-Thompson, will read the sixth and seventh words. Music will be provided by a women's quartet.

Service for Easter Sunday will commence at 10 a.m. with Sunday school and Bible classes. At 11 a.m. divine worship will be held and the pastor will give a sermon on "Alive for Evermore." Music will be by the senior and junior choirs.

Social Service Tax On Way Out

Abolition of Alberta's social service tax moved a step nearer in the Legislature Thursday afternoon, when Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of municipal affairs, introduced a bill to repeal the Social Service Tax Act. It was given first reading.

REPEAL of the bill is in line with a Throne Speech undertaking that the tax would be abolished. It was first imposed following the First Great War, when it was known as the Supplementary Revenue Tax. Ever since that time it has been a bone of political contention.

The tax imposed last year was two mills, and the government estimated that it produced $1,150,000 in revenue.

Wray Objects To Independent Label

Objection was taken Thursday by Arthur Wray to the use of the abbreviation "Ind." in brackets which follow his name in newspaper accounts of his activities in the Legislative Assembly.

Mr. Wray was elected in 1944 as Social Credit member for Banff-Cochrane. He insisted that he was elected as a Social Credit member by his constituency, and in spite of the fact that he now occupies a seat on the opposition side of the house and in spite of the fact that he was ousted from the Social Credit caucus, he still should be known as "Social Credit" without any prefixes.

"Chatty" Remark Causes Furore

"Is the member getting up to chat, or is he really going to say something?" Gordon Taylor (SC-Drumheller) asked in the Legislature Thursday upon repeated efforts by Arthur Wray (Ind.-SC-Banff-Cochrane) to gain information or express his opinion on sections of a bill before the committee of the whole house.

Mr. Taylor's question threw the committee into an uproar, and Elmer E. Roper (CCF-Edmonton) was heard above the shouts:

"I resent that statement from a member who can do some very skillful chatting himself."

Motion May "Die" as Session Ends

Asks Assembly Disapproval 1947 Report by S.C. Board

Death on the order paper could be the fate of a resolution moved in the Legislative Assembly Thursday afternoon by Elmer E. Roper (CCF-Edmonton). The resolution would have the assembly state its disapproval of the recent Social Credit board report.

DEBATE ON the motion was adjourned by D. Ure (SC-Red Deer), after it had been amended by A. Davidson (Ind.-Calgary) to read that the assembly disapproved of a portion of the report which attacked democratic procedures.

With protraction drawing close and with Tuesday as next private members day, when the debate could be re-opened, it is possible the discussion will not be resumed. The house can revert to the debate, if it so desires, on any day, but this is not seen as a possibility.

In moving his motion, Mr. Roper compared some statements in the board report with a verbatim copy of a speech made by Adolf Hitler in the early days of his rise to power. He found a distinct parallel between the report and the statements made by the führer.

"LISTEN TO this profound reasoning" he said as he drew from pages of the report statements that "majority rule" should not and did not enforce the eating of three meals a day on any person, though under majority rule it would be possible.

He was alarmed at the statement that the people were not concerned with methods and what was desired was results. Mussolini and Hitler achieved results, he said, but it was the methods "which were evil in the fascist machine."

"Members of the government of the Social Credit Board and L. D. Byrne (SC Board Technical Adviser) were at liberty to think and preach as they wished about democracy but when an arm of the government, set up by the Legislature and using money collected from the people, attacks democratic principles, it was a wrong thing," Mr. Roper said.

He challenged government members to stand up and let themselves be counted as to whether or not they supported the principles of the report.

AS LEADER of the Social Credit party and as head of the Social Credit government, Premier Manning announced that he was going to make a public statement within the next few days which would

Hutterite Groups To Be Restricted

A bill denying to communal groups the right to indefinite expansion was given first reading in the Legislative Assembly Thursday afternoon.

TERMS OF THE BILL are levied at the Hutterite colonies, prevented under the terms of the Land Sale Prohibition Act from purchasing land during the war.

A special committee headed by Ivan Casey (SC-Oakville-High River) was appointed since the last session of the Legislature to investigate the Hutterite problem. The new bill is based on findings of the committee and limits each holding by communal groups to less than 6,400 acres, prescribes 40 miles as the minimum distance between such colonies and sharply limits the type of land which may be purchased by any communal group.

Wonderful New CAKE and PASTRY FLOUR developed for Western Housewives

MAPLE LEAF MILLING COMPANY BRINGS YOU THIS SPECIAL FLOUR

So easy to adjust your favourite recipes to MONARCH CAKE and PASTRY FLOUR

For each cupful of hard-wheat flour required in your old recipe, simply add 2 1/3 cupfuls of Monarch Flour. This addition is required because, by actual weight, Monarch Flour, there are seven cups more flour than in the same weight of hard-wheat flour.

MONARCH PASTRY FLOUR

WHAT KIND OF FLOUR makes the best cakes and pastry? Years ago our research scientists started looking for the answer to this question. Does the type of wheat make any difference to your cake or pie? Should the flour be milled in any special way?

Over the years our research men have tried every kind of wheat that grows. They have studied every detail of milling. Our dietitians have baked thousands of cakes and pies and kept accurate records.

So step by step the ideal kind of cake and pastry flour has been developed. Year by year—almost month by month—improvements have been brought about.

Now the final result is in grocery stores for Western housewives to buy—Monarch Flour—the most satisfactory flour, we believe, that has yet been produced for making cakes and pastry.

Amazing Cakes, Biscuits, Pie-crust

You'll be amazed what light, fluffy biscuits, what feather-light cakes and what tender, melting pie-crust you'll make with Monarch Flour.

There are other grades of pastry flour, but the only flour as good is another bag of Monarch. It is milled from a new type soft wheat—extra fine and light.

Monarch needs only one chance to prove to you that it is the best flour you've ever used for cakes and pastry. So get a bag today, and—happy "bakeday" to you.

COCONUT CHIFFON PIE

Yield—one 8½-inch pie.

Prepare a baked and cooled 8½-inch pie shell. Soak 2½ teaspoons plain gelatin in 3 tablespoons cold milk. Scald ¾ cup milk. Beat 3 egg yolks slightly. Stir into yolks 1/3 cup granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt. Gradually stir in scalded milk then cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until mixture will coat a spoon. Remove from heat at once; add softened gelatin and stir until it is dissolved. Stir in 1/3 cup 18% cream and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Cool, stirring occasionally, until mixture begins to set.

Beat 3 egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in 3 tablespoons fine granulated sugar, beating after each addition until mixture stands in peaks. Beat cooled mixture until foamy; fold in meringue and ¼ cup shredded coconut. Pour into prepared pie shell and sprinkle top with finely-shredded semi-sweet chocolate. Chill until set.

PASTRY FOR PIE SHELL

Oven temperature for pie shell—hot, 450°.

Sift, then measure 1½ cups Monarch Pastry Flour. Add ¼ teaspoon salt. Sift into a bowl.

Measure ½ cup chilled shortening. Cut half the shortening into the flour finely; cut the second half of the shortening in more coarsely.

Sprinkle with ice cold water, mixing it in very lightly with a fork; as the dough forms, draw it to one side of the bowl—use just enough water to make a paste which will cling together and clean easily from the bowl.

The experts in the masters individual tournament appear at times to try to outfox their partners as well as their opponents. It truly is an "individual" tournament. Dr. Louis Mark of Columbus, O., made his contract of four hearts doubled on today's hand because his opponents refused to play like novices.

A novice, for instance, would have led the fourth best spade and thus give his partner a count on the hand. But North led the five of spades. South won with the king, and led a small club, which Dr. Mark (West) won in dummy with the ace.

Although he realized that South probably held all the missing hearts, he laid down the heart ace to make sure, and North showed out.

A small diamond was led from dummy and North won the doctor's queen with the ace. North came back with another small spade and Dr. Mark played the ace from dummy, but put the queen on from his own hand. He cashed the jack of diamonds, then led a diamond to dummy's king, and played the jack of spades. South did not ruff because he thought that West would overruff. He elected to discard a club, and was surprised when Dr. Mark played a spade on the trick.

Dummy's seven of clubs was led and South had to play the queen. When Dr. Mark followed, North decided that South was going to be end-played and overtook the queen of clubs with the king. He returned the jack of clubs, which was trumped with dummy's queen of hearts, and South had to undertrump with the four. The ten of hearts was played, South covered and Dr. Mark won with the king. He entered dummy by leading the six of hearts to the eight, led the ten of diamonds and overruffed South's seven of hearts with the nine.

Copy of "Alice" Sells for $4,800

LONDON, March 28.—(AP)

—A tattered first edition of Lewis Carroll's Alice in Wonderland brought £1,200 ($4,800) at auction Wednesday. The untidy little red book, which looked as if a child had taken it to bed often, was of special interest because the author had written on the flyleaf to one Tow Taylor that the beloved Alice almost was called something else. The note said:

"There is already a book called 'Lily's Golden Hours.' Here are the other names I had thought of:

"Alice among the Elves (or Goblins), Alice's Hour (or Doings, or Adventures), or In Elf-Land.

"Of all these I at present prefer Alice's Adventures in Wonderland—I want something sensational. Perhaps you could suggest a name better than any of these."

The original manuscript was sold in 1928 for just below $150,000.

Plan No Inquest In Mine Fatality

No coroners inquest will be held in the death of Gilbert Mather, 31-year-old mine manager killed Wednesday, according to Chief Coroner Dr. E. A. Braithwaite.

Mather, whose wife and one child reside at 10311 Saskatchewan drive, was killed in an accident at the Riverdale Coal mine, N. Man., about 10:30 a.m. Wednesday.

RCMP report that Mather with Alex Kas, 9628 103A avenue, was attempting to put a pipe down the air shaft. The pipe was too long so they made a hole in the ceiling of the shaft covering the shaft and put the pipe through the hole. Mather was handling the pipe when it came in contact with a high tension wire carrying 23,000 volts.

Provincial mine inspector, J. A. Dutton, and the electrical inspector of mines, Burton Tait, investigated the accident and submitted their findings to Dr. Braithwaite.

Marcel Cerdan Highly Favored

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—From all you hear, it would appear that Marcel Cerdan, the European middleweight champion, will be the only fighter in Madison Square Garden's ring tonight. However, Harold Gress says he will show up, as long as the subway is running from Brooklyn.

What's more, the rugged fire-drill swatter out of the tough Brooklyn section is unimpressed by the buildup which seems to be centered at making the "Marcel Wave" from French Africa a combination atom bomb and 5-30 bomber. Hustling Harold insists it makes no difference that practically everyone except his immediate family is saying it's too bad for him in his 10-rounder.

Baseball Immortal, John Evers, Dies

ALBANY, N.Y., March 28 (AP)—John J. (Johnny) Evers, middle man of baseball's immortal Tinker-Evers-to-Chance double-play combination, died today at the age of 55.

The one-time National League star, known in his playing days with the Chicago Cubs as "The Crab" and "The Trojan," suffered a cerebral hemorrhage Tuesday and was taken to St. Peter's hospital.

EVERS SUFFERED a stroke in August, 1942, and had been partially paralyzed since. He had been in poor health since the stroke and was bed-ridden much of the time.

The lantern-jawed second baseman, who never weighed more than 130 pounds during his playing career, performed for the Cubs from 1902 to 1913. During this period, the team's infield combination became a by-word.

Surviving member of the trio is shortstop Joe Tinker, who lives in Orlando, Fla. First baseman Frank Chance died in 1924.

Plan to Crack Down On By-Law Offences

Recurring offences against the city's early closing by-law and its sections which deal with selling of goods after regular business hours, may result in the suspension of license, and in the case of flagrant violations and old offenders, in the cancellation of all licenses issued by the city.

ROY FOSTER, city license inspector, stated Friday that consideration was being given to measures which would eliminate the practice of selling after hours. He said there were some merchants making a practice of such selling.

Under the terms of the by-law a fine of not less than $1 and not more than $100 can be imposed for infractions, and suspension for one week on the first offence, and two weeks on second conviction, with the third and subsequent offences calling for cancellation of all civic licenses.

Consideration was being given in the invoking of the suspension and cancellation clauses of the by-laws in the case of repeaters, and cases of flagrant violations.

Await More News On Dairy Decontrol

Edmonton dairy officials Friday were awaiting further news from control by the government of the dairy industry in Canada.

Generally, the dairies expect to have a free hand in producing amounts of cream. It is expected that whipping cream, controlled for the last five years, would be among those types taken from government control.

Various grades of cream, also unseparated during those five years, are expected to be on the market.

It was stated by one Edmonton dairy man.

It was unlikely that the announcement would effect supplies of ice cream, but it was thought that whipping cream would again appear in quantity in Edmonton stores, and for delivery to Edmonton homes.

Production of milk and cream in the province is controlled by the provincial Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, who in turn take their orders from the Dominion government.

New British Education Act Is Said "Revolutionary"

MAKES STATEMENT: Hon. N. E. Tanner, minister of lands and mines, who announced Friday that it was unlikely that veterans will be able to settle on land being cleared in the Wanham area before next fall at the earliest.

"Extension of Technical and Commercial Schools will be possible as the equipment becomes available. John Longland, county education officer, Dorset, England, declared at a meeting of the Home and School Council held in the Corona hotel last night. His subject was the "New British Education Act."

THE NEW ACT, passed in 1944 is to completely revolutionize the present standard of education in England. During the old system, he pointed out, a child was able to leave school at the age of 14. It was not possible to adapt itself into the extreme difference between school environment and the difficult realism of the outside world. The system then was very poorly arranged, the reason being that geographical factors entered into the picture. A child born in one area had a better chance of education while a child raised in another area, possibly a few miles away, had fewer chances.

He also criticized the entrance examination for primary to secondary schools which takes place at the age of 11. A child at that age was never able to decide what work he was best fitted for. Many children never passed into secondary school for that reason. Under the new system a child will be fitted for a vocation and the vocational training will be continued at the same time in order that the child may adopt itself to its own individual liking.

Vancouver Youth Gets Jail Term

Alfred R. Argyle, Vancouver, the 17-year-old youth who was arrested recently after he became panicky, while attempting to cash a forged cheque, was sentenced to one year's imprisonment by Magistrate A. L. Miller, in city police court Friday.

The accused, with Ross D. Turcotte who of Thursday was sentenced to one year, used a fishhook and lamp in order to forge the cheque. Argyle was given one year on the forgery charge and a year on a conspiracy charge, the sentences to be concurrent.

Plan to Extend Electrification

Extension to Calgary Power Company Ltd., program for rural electrification in and around Edmonton this coming summer that will cost $250,000, will get underway in the near future. It was announced Friday by H. B. Sherman, Calgary, Alberta, manager of the company.

Another 300 farms in the Sturgeon, Bremner, Strathcona and Winterburn districts will be "cut-in" on Calgary Power Co. Ltd. transmission lines this year, Mr. Sherman said.

While in Edmonton Friday Mr. Sherman was going over plans for this summer's extension with G. H. Milligan, Edmonton district manager for the Calgary Power Co. Ltd.

Year in Jail For Turcotte

Ross D. Turcotte, Edmonton, was found guilty in supreme court Thursday afternoon by Mr. Justice C. J. Ford, on a charge of conspiring with Alfred R. Argyle, alias William G. Connors, and two others to commit forgery and was sentenced to serve one year in and out of the province for a forgery charge.

Evidence adduced by Crown Prosecutor D. B. MacKenzie showed the accused had requested two employees of city stores to obtain for him cheques from which signatures were copied.

An accomplice, Alfred R. Argyle, was arrested as he attempted to cash one of the forged cheques. It was for $480 and purported to be signed by a well-known city business man. When a teller at the bank started to check on the signature of the cheque Argyle became scared and ran out of the bank. He was chased by police officers and arrested.

The forgery was committed by tracing signatures of cheques placed in the bottom of a fish bowl into which an electric light bulb had been inserted.

Says Banff School To Run All Year

H. P. Brown of the University of Alberta's extension department, told the Edmonton Lions club meeting on Thursday that the Banff School of Fine Arts is to become a year-round institution.

Construction of a new $1,000,000 building is expected to start this summer.

Besides the new building, which will house most of the class-rooms, and equipment, several new chalets will be built. It will take at least a year to complete construction, and to have everything running smoothly, Mr. Brown said.

The Carnegie Institute, and interested persons in the east, will supply the fund for the new construction. About 550 students enrolled in 1946, coming from all parts of North America, and a few from other countries.

Mr. Brown also stated that courses this year will include drama, art, ballet, leathercraft, weaving, oral French, short story writing, playwriting, piano, choral technique, musical criticism and children's classes in grammar and art.

Constable Wins Praise

On Friday city police received a letter from one of the victims who received burns during the explosion in the Rite Spot Hat Cleaners last Monday.

The letter is signed by Stanley Soroko, 10039 94 street, who wanted the department to know of the efficient piece of work carried out by Constable G. D. Watson of the city police force.

The letter reads "It was the constable's quick action that prevented any greater damage, loss of property and possible loss of life in the fire. He praised the work of the police force and concludes "I for one am proud of the efficiency of our police force."

The proposal to outlaw atomic warfare was termed "fantastic" with the only safe alternative the outlawing of war itself, by Dr. Leopold Infeld, theoretical physicist at the University of Toronto, and close associate for several years of Prof. Albert Einstein, in an interview here Friday.

Automobile Is Missing

An automobile, battery, overcoat, radio and children's wagon were among articles reported stolen to city police on Thursday.

The auto, a 1946 station wagon, bearing license number 5723 is owned by Lloyd Rasmussen. He said the auto was stolen from in front of 1014 30 street, between 29 and 31 street.

Work Horse Needed In Farm Economy

REGINA, (CP)—Continued need of heavy horses on western farms despite mechanization was forecast by C. T. Robertson of Bradwell, Sask., here to judge Clydesdales at the Regina winter fair.

Mr. Robertson said that although it was often said that the day of the heavy horse was finished in Saskatchewan, it still had an important part to play in the farm economy.

"There should be a heavy team for chores and a lighter team to handle such jobs as cleaning barns and hauling feed in winter jobs not satisfactorily done by a tractor," he said.

"Wherever you find livestock on a farm, then there is a need for a horse no matter how highly mechanized the rest of the operation may be."

'Open' U.S. Dollar Exchange Light

By H. B. Hardy

(From The Toronto Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA, (CP)—Because trading in Canadian dollars on the unofficial market has been so light, the Canadian government and the Bank of Canada are not unduly concerned at the disparity between the Canadian dollar on this unofficial market and its equivalent in Canada. This "unofficial" market in the United States operates within very narrow limits and the supply of Canadian dollars on it is usually in excess of the demand, particularly in the winter when the supply is not being skimmed off by tourists desiring money to spend in Canada. This fact operates to depress the value of the Canadian dollar on the unofficial market. However, it has actually no impact on the official rate of exchange between the two countries.

Tourists to Up Bids

Informed persons agree that with the coming of spring and the resumption of the tourist traffic the rate for the Canadian dollar on the unofficial market will rise to more normal levels as the dollars are skimmed off by prospective visitors to Canada.

Just what is this unofficial market? and why and how does it operate? There are certain types of payments which Canadians are permitted to make to Americans for which the Americans are unable to obtain U.S. dollars at official rates in Canada. No restrictions are placed on these Americans if they wish to sell the Canadian dollars to some other American who wishes to make a capital investment in Canada. And the price he receives for his Canadian dollar is determined entirely by the amount of Canadian dollars on the unofficial market—in other words it depends on what his American confederate will pay for it. Such transactions, the experts point out, are merely transfers between one American and another, within a very narrow market.

Balance Reduced

As to the official exchange situation between the two countries, and the amount of U.S. dollars now held by Canada, this is a secret possessed only by the foreign exchange control board which divulges the information only once a year in its annual report. The report will be made in May. It is believed, however, that Canada's holdings of U.S. dollars have been greatly depleted since 1945 when Canada possessed about $1,300,000,000 in U.S. dollars. That was reduced by some $600,000,000 in 1946 as a result of Canada's trade deficit with the U.S. and it is assumed that it will have been decreased proportionately during the fiscal year 1946-47.

Similar Mark for U.K.

In connection with the operation of the unofficial Canadian money market in the U.S., it is interesting to note that the foreign exchange control board has announced arrangements for the operation of a similar market in the United Kingdom which will enable Canadian banks to buy and sell United Kingdom banknotes. "With the increase in travel between Canada and the United Kingdom," the board points out, "it is felt that the demand for and supply of sterling notes by travellers will enable a reasonable market to be maintained by the banks similar to the market which exists for such notes in the United States. It is expected that dealings will take place at rates which fluctuate to some extent according to supply and demand."

AMERICA BEFORE COLUMBUS

(3) Indians of the North
One of the ten great areas of early Indian life in North America was the Eskimo area—the far northern coastline the northern islands and the western half of what is now Alaska. The Eskimos are Indians. Their forefathers, like those of the other Indians, are believed to have come from Asia but their mode of life became specialized through long residence in the Arctic. This way of life has probably not changed much since the time of Columbus.

The ground in this Arctic area is permanently frozen. Cultivation of the soil is completely impossible, and human life would be impossible without the animals of the ocean—seals, whales, fish. Hence the natives, for the most part, live near the coasts. The Eskimos of this area, even today, are entirely dependent on fishing and hunting for a livelihood.

It is possible to be practical and pretty too, and Pattern 4628 proves it. A tulip pocket and scallops are distinctly decorative on a very useful overall apron.

Wood was almost as essential as food to the early Indians of the North Pacific area—a long narrow region along the coast between Alaska and California—an area of snow-capped mountain peaks, forests and rushing streams teeming with fish. This was the home of many distinct Indian tribes, each speaking its own language. Yet these tribes had certain similarities, and their mode of life was very different from that in any other part of North America.

The keynote of their existence were fish and wood. They were largely dependent upon fish for food. Salmon entered the rivers in millions every year and were taken in traps, nets and by spear. The catch of halibut, cod and other deep-sea fish was plentiful, and large quantities of shellfish were gathered. Deer, mountain goat and beavers were used for food, and great quantities of berries were eaten, but for the most part, the North Pacific people were fish-eaters.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO GIVE PERRIN GLOVES

It is not only fashionable people in France who prefer PERRIN gloves. In many other countries it has become a habit to look for fine gloves marked with the PERRIN name — classic examples of the French creative genius in matters connected with one's costume. So, at Easter, when tradition suggests the romantic and delightful present of fine gloves, remember that she — and he — needs many different kinds of gloves — in different colors — for afternoon wear, for formal occasions, when driving, for business use.

Then pay a visit to almost any good store where you will find an interesting selection of PERRIN gloves — and buy one or more pairs for each name on your list. Bearing one of the world's great fashion names, few gifts are so certain of such a warm welcome!

The famous clover trade mark identifies fine gloves made for men and women, by PERRIN. Look for this trade mark — it is your guarantee of perfect cut, enduring leathers, careful workmanship and Parisian styling.

Canadian Club Speaker Causes Much Laughter

Laughter filled the dining room of the Macdonald hotel Wednesday afternoon during the talk "Laughter Around the Map" given by Hubert S. Banner, to the Women's Canadian club.

Mr. Banner is an honors graduate of Oxford University and fellow of the Royal Geographical Society. He spent 12 years in British Malaya and the Dutch East Indies. During the war he was chief regional officer of the ministry of information popularly known as "Hell-Fire Corner."

His light-hearted exploration into what sort of things people of different nationalities find funny was exemplified with humorous stories of all nations.

There is the Scotsman who went into a pub and ordered two glasses of beer. He drank one and left the other to settle.

The Irishman's definition of an Irish bull is typical of the Irish sense of humor. "If you went into a field in Ireland and saw two cows lying down there and one was standing up, the one standing up would be an Irish bull."

The Jews laugh at themselves. They are divided into two classes: the pathetic and the one who likes to get the better of a bargain.

MR. BANNER laughed as he said that in the United States he was told that the British have no sense of humor. His tales proved they have a great sense of humor.

Oriental humor differs in many respects from European countries. They get their chief amusement from long-winded stories about jungle animals getting the better of the other and so forth but the Chinese seem to possess a spontaneous humor like our own.

Mrs. S. H. McCuaig, president was in the chair.

Newlyweds Attempt Alter Mates Habits

The reason there are so many divorces is because the first thing the newlyweds do is to try to make each other over according to their own little blue prints, but it can't be done without leaving behind a lot of blasted hopes and broken illusions that bode no good for a marriage.

Why otherwise intelligent men and women do not marry their ideals in the first place, no one knows, but they don't. Perhaps it is because we all have the reformer's complex, and we can't keep from trying to alter people to our taste.

It is part of the compulsion that makes a woman, who knows nothing about millinery, rip up a new $40 hat and reconstruct it into a sartorial horror, and that causes a man who buys a house to wall up the old windows and cut new ones and install a different system of plumbing and lighting.

Now as long as people tinker with trying to change material things nearer to their hearts' desires, it is an innocent diversion; but when they undertake to revise an individual's character, it is another pair of sleeves, as the French say. Then it becomes the most dangerous occupation in which they can possibly indulge, and the experiment becomes even more hazardous when the human guinea pig is a husband or wife.

THIS IS INEVITABLE, because nothing in courtship prepares either the bride or the bridegroom for the shock of finding out that their mates did not regard them as little pieces of perfection, but, on the contrary, considered them poor specimens of the genus homo, loaded down with faults and weaknesses which they were going to kindly correct.

That gives the newlyweds a body blow from which they never really recover. For the one thing that is absolutely essential to a happy marriage is for the husband and wife to idealize each other, and for each to believe that the other hung the moon.

So the honeymoon is definitely over and you might as well hang crepe on the love nest when the husband, who married a glamour girl because she was so pretty and cute, begins to try to make her over into a crackpot cook and a thrifty housewife, who is more interested in bungalow aprons than she is in mink coats, and who would rather stay at home of evenings and listen to her husband snore than to step out to a night club.

AND THE SAME catastrophe, only worse, happens when the wife undertakes to polish up her rough diamond. Probably more husbands, who were good providers and who started out devoted to the ladies to whom they were married, have been lost through their wives correcting their grammar and pronunciation and table manners than any other way.

For the one thing no man can stand is criticism from his wife. Husbands are one of the things that wives have to take "as is" if they want to keep them.

Of course, if men and women would give the subject the serious thought that it deserves, they would realize that by the time people get old enough to marry, their tastes and habits are formed, and they would pick out congenial mates to start with. But this would deprive millions of husbands and wives of their favorite indoor sport of picking on each other. And so they go merrily along attempting to work a miracle that will change a dumb Dora into a highbrow, or quench a souse's thirst for liquor.

Which is why divorce is one of our most profitable industries.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

When a mother recognizes that forcing food upon a child, when he does not want it, weakens his appetite she will have a greater respect for the child's refusal.

There are temporary emotional reasons why a child would not want to eat and even the baby is influenced by a coming cold, too much or too rich food, or other factors not always easy to identify. The reasons are valid whatever they are.

Mrs. E. J. H. writes that she has four healthy children who eat so well and heartily that people always remark upon it. "I have three boys, 13, 8 and 5 and one girl of 11."

"They eat, not everything, but most things and their manners, while not perfect, are not bad. Eating at our house is considered to be fun and a privilege."

"I learned my first real lesson from my boy when he was in the nine to fifteen months stage when you have said a child loses his appetite temporarily. He promptly vomited some milk when I had insisted upon his drinking it. Since that time I have never insisted that any of them eat or drink anything they really didn't want. Sometimes, I withhold certain less easily digested desserts if they aren't hungry enough for the main foods of the meal. Especially if these were foods which ordinarily they are fond of.

"We have all the foods we need, but never any to waste. We are not so well-to-do, but we do have a cat, a dog and chickens which eat up the scraps."

"Eating is a privilege and we always ask a blessing and the children know several."

"The children have a membership in the 'Clean-up Club' and so they are expected to clean up their plates. Usually I require them to eat what they take, so as not to waste it, but when I feel I have misjudged their appetite I do not require this of them."

"Everybody should at least taste every food. Our food tastes good. We cook our food well and have lots of fresh fruits and vegetables and bake our own bread. All the children are privileged to help with the cooking and planning of meals."

"We are a family, proud of it, proud of each other, our home, schools and activities and living together is fun. We all get hungry as bears."

"This is good reading, too, and I am grateful for an expression from a mother whose philosophy of living is so rare a one."

Our leaflet No. 35 "Poor Appetites," enumerates the more usual reasons for this condition. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Why Grow Old?

Actress Penny Edwards and Joan Winfield find doing exercises together great sport. The same results can be obtained by doing them at home alone, however, and it doesn't take much time either.

By Josephine Lowman

In the past I taught figure molding classes constantly. Since I have been writing "Why Grow Old?" and receive more than a quarter of a million letters from readers who must be answered, it has been necessary for me to give up my class, except for two months each year. I always enjoy teaching greatly, and look forward to the eight weeks each year when I come into direct contact with my pupils.

It has occurred to me that it might be interesting to the women who read my column to hear about some of the results which have been obtained by pupils in my classes. Then, too, you must be wondering about the same things which puzzle my pupils, and would ask me many of the same questions if you were talking to me. Therefore, this week I am going to give you case histories from class records, and answer some of the questions my pupils have asked in class.

In these classes some women wish to hold their weight and lose in inches only, while others want to lose both pounds and inches. Some come for improvement in posture, or because they feel so much better when they exercise. Some wish to raise blood pressure, increase bust measurement, overcome constipation or mild arthritis, or simply take a few inches off the hips and thighs and tone up abdominal muscles! A few wish to gain weight and build contour in the legs or bust.

If there were that many hours in the day, I would classify pupils as to need and place them in different classes. However, that is impossible. Therefore, they are given a general routine in class. Before and after class I prescribe just three or four exercises for their particular figure faults and give advice about diet. The ones who accomplished most did these few exercises at home on the days they did not come to class, which was twice a week.

Such perfectly wonderful results can be obtained, if the pupil or my readers, will just co-operate a little! It is not necessary to do exercises for 45 minutes a day. If you will select just the exercises which you individually require, depending on the results you want to obtain, and do these exercises for 15 minutes a day, you will be gratified.

After you have gotten your figure faults under control, you should indulge in a well-rounded routine every day, for the sake of present and future health. However, for the time, if your problem is a protruding abdomen, round shoulders or a small bust, work on the exercises planned to overcome those defects.

If your figure is spoiled by a protruding abdomen, and you want to help, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 "Abdominal Exercises," to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Louis B. Mayer Sued for Divorce

LOS ANGELES, March 28 (AP)—Louis B. Mayer, 63-year-old multi-millionaire head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, was sued for divorce in superior court Wednesday by his wife of 43 years, Margaret. Mrs. Mayer's brief complaint accused the producer and racing figure of deserting her Mar. 28, 1944, and adds that "since then he still continues willfully and without excuse to live apart from me against my will and without my consent." Her lawyer, Ray Sandier, said the couple had reached a property settlement agreement.

Meeting Endorses Indian Briefs

Resolution that the Council of Canadian Unity "supports in full the representations of the Indian Association of Alberta as illustrated by the various briefs" was passed at a meeting of the council at Talmud Torah Hall Thursday night. Fifty persons attended with Mrs. William Rowan as chair man.

The resolution will be forwarded to the secretary of the joint committee of the Senate and House of Commons, Ottawa which is now in session to review the Indian Act and others.

BRIEFS DEALING with agriculture, housing, health and education were reviewed by John Laurie, secretary of the Indian Association of Alberta, who has been adopted into the Stoney Indian tribe, and is also known as White Cloud.

Recommendation regarding the status of the Indian were made that the Indians be given a larger measure of self-government on the reserves, and that matters such as band membership be determined by the bands.

IN EDUCATION, recommendations asking for the same educational opportunities as white people, and that education be flexible and adaptable to the needs of various parts of Alberta, were made. A large increase in per capita grant for residential schools and the building of additional day schools on reserves, was also asked.

Considering health, it was recommended that the timber on reserves be used for building homes on the reserves to replace the "poverty-stricken homes" now there. It was asked that the old age pension apply to Indians as it does to "every other Canadian resident."

Appreciation was voiced on the work of Dr. E. L. Stone, superintendent of the Dr. Charles Camell Hospital, and of the Alberta mobile clinic. It was pointed out that "until the Indian has economic security and can live in decent home with proper sanitation, much of the health efforts will be wasted."

Easter Rabbit Legend Is 3,000 Years Old

Everybody sees something in the moon. Some see a face. Some a lunar landscape. Some see its green cheese. Some even see a rabbit.

AND THAT is where the Easter bunny comes from.

For more than three thousand years, the rabbit in the moon has been paying short visits to the earth on special errands.

The Chinese say the lunar hare comes down to pound rice in a mortar for the poor. The Hindus say to feed starving pilgrims. The Greeks say to point the way to spring. And the Christians say to leave Easter eggs for children.

Like most Easter traditions, the story of the rabbit began with a legend.

Centuries ago—the Hindus say—a god disguised as a starving pilgrim, fell by the side of the road on his way to Delhi. A hare passed by. Seeing the pilgrim's distress, he volunteered to become the makings for a fine rabbit pottage.

Instead, the grateful god whisked the rabbit off to the moon.

EVER SINCE then—so the story goes—people have been seeing rabbits in the moon.

Easter Day is timed by the lunar calendar. That's why—every year when the moon is at a certain phase—the rabbit knows it's Easter and visits earth. The long-eared visitor hides gaily colored eggs because they are symbols of joy and new life.

The amusing Easter eggs with human faces—always a favorite with children—stem from an old German custom.

The Germans traditionally paint hard-boiled eggs to resemble clowns and give them to children on festive days. Our present day Easter cards are really an outgrowth of the German custom of exchanging decorated eggs. For very often instead of eggs, pictures were used to greet friends at Easter time.

Finally, these pictures became Easter "congratulations" cards and the idea spread to England, and then to America.

EASTER CARDS showing little girls dressed up in new spring clothes can be traced to—curiously enough—the Chinese. Both the Chinese—as well as North American Indians—were said to cast off their old clothes for new ones at the same time as our Easter.

The most popular spring flowers for Easter cards are the lily and the daffodil. These have become religious symbols. The lily is connected with Easter because of its similarity to the white robe worn by Christ. Still another reason is an ancient Judean legend that wherever the Savior walked, lilies blossomed in His footsteps.

The daffodil is an Easter symbol because its blossom looks like a trumpet. And the trumpet is mentioned in the bible more often than any other musical instrument.

Because VEL is light in weight, you use less of it. For instance, if a cup of soap will do the job in your washing machine, use about 1/2 cup VEL instead. Experimenters will soon teach you the amount you need. Put VEL in first then add the water, which need not be hot. The laundry suds will soon subside but no matter! Unlike soap, the washing power of VEL is right there in the suds and it keeps on cleaning clothes long after the suds disappear.

NO SOAP SCUM
VEL forms no soap scum on clothes to make them gray and dingy so much less rinsing is usually sufficient. Nor does it leave any hard-to-remove ring around the tub. VEL is swell when used correctly.

VEL LIVES OUT DIRT
VEL is quite different from soap. It literally lifts out the dirt which can be seen, through the darkened water, deposited at the bottom of your wash tub or machine. For this reason, and because VEL is equally good for all kinds of materials, the same water can often be used for the entire wash. A little dry VEL sprinkled on stains or extraneous spots will help to remove them. For extra soiled clothes—try soaking overnight with VEL.

Let's keep abreast of the times! Soapless VEL is the new, modern cleanser for use on washday. But its use must be understood to be appreciated. Letters from satisfied users are enthusiastic in praise of VEL for the family wash. One such letter says, "I poured in the VEL, put the clothes in the tub to soak as usual, and went about my other work for an hour or so, then came back all ready for a tumble with the washing. To my surprise the water was already filled with dirt, and with very little elbow grease the clothes washed clean as never before!"

Azulfinol, New Drug Hurries Healing of Ulcers, Wounds

BUDAPEST—A new drug which has produced excellent results in healing wounds and ulcers has been discovered by Prof. M. Jancso of Szeged university, the Hungarian press reports. Prof. Jancso calls his new drug azulfinol.

For years he has been engaged on research into the nature and properties of histamin which is found in various parts of living organisms and plays an important part in biological functions.

Research has proved that histamin causes such diseases as asthma, skin diseases, ulcers, sores, hives and hay fever. Histamin is present in an organism in a latent form and only exercises its poisonous influence when it is made active. When it becomes active in an organism it causes a cramp in the muscles of the lungs and makes the breathing difficult.

Uses Experimental Animals

Prof. Jancso first succeeded in making the effect of histamin visible by giving doses of it to experimental animals and then injecting china ink into their veins.

Usually, china ink passes through the blood vessels without leaving a trace. In this special case, however, the cells on the inside of the veins—known as endothel cells—began accumulating china ink particles. Dark-colored cells became visible and it was even possible to photograph them.

It was observed that these cells left their places, wandered round and eventually, filled with china ink particles, settled down in the textures which means that endothel cells changed into phagocytes.

Neutralize Poison

Science has so far known phagocytes only in the liver and spleen (spleen)—these organs which neutralize poisonous substances and fight bacteria which penetrate into the organism.

Prof. Jancso's experiments have now proved, however, that under normal conditions living but passive cells become defensive in the presence of histamin.

Having thus discovered that by making passive cells defensive in the presence of histamin, the healing of wounds and ulcers could be accelerated. Prof. Jancso began to look for a way of using histamin as a drug.

Using mainly essential and vegetable oils for his experiments, Prof. Jancso found that all those which produced results on the lines required included a chemical substance called "azulen".

Azulen is a turpentine derivative mainly to be found in camomile. It penetrates the organism rapidly, is very quickly absorbed and heals without detrimental local effects.

Real Estate Bill Passes Committee

Clauses which had been held in committee when the bill was before it on a previous occasion received a final check-over when legislation providing licensing for real estate dealers and agents passed through committee in the Legislature Thursday.

SOME CLAUSES of the original bill were deleted, including one which would have barred an agent from operating under any other firm name than his own.

Lawyers dealing in real estate as an incidental part of their profession's work were not required to have a dealer's license, Hon. A. J. Hooke, provincial secretary said. However those who dealt in real estate as such must have a license.

Charge Boy, 10, Allowed to "Marry"

New Type Freight Cars for CNR

MONTREAL, March 28.—The purchase of 130 covered steel hopper cars, the first of a new type of freight car to be ordered by the Canadian National Railways, was announced here by N. B. Walton, CNR executive vice-president. They will be built by the National Steel Car Corporation at Hamilton, Ont.

This car will provide a new service for shippers of such commodities as lime, cement, sulphur, salt, sand, crude abrasives and other like products," said Mr. Walton. "In the past these supplies had to be packaged to be handled in box cars or carried loose in open cars unprotected from the elements. In a car shortage emergency, with a simple cleaning process the covered hopper cars could be used to carry grain."

The panny belongs to the violet family and is one of the oldest garden flowers in cultivation.

The life insurance company he helped to found has proved worthy of him. The Manufacturers Life has made a continuous and ever-growing contribution to the nation's welfare.

Since its incorporation, the Manufacturers Life has paid over $340 million to three generations of policyholders and beneficiaries.

India Governors Called to Conference

NEW DELHI, March 28, (Reuters).—The viceroy, Rear Admiral Lord Mountbatten, today invited the governors of all the provinces of British India to a conference here in the middle of April. The viceroy a few days ago invited Mohandas K. Gandhi and Mohammed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, to informal talks with him. Jinnah has accepted the invitation and is expected here early in April. It is not yet known whether Gandhi is accepting.

One-Armed Boxer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 28. (AP).—Tommy Rodgers, 20-year-old one-armed Harvard junior, tonight won a 135-pound university boxing championship by a knockout after flooring his opponent twice for counts of nine.

Bonnie Doon, Central Baptist, Delton, First Baptist, Jasper Place, McDonald, North Edmonton, Shiloh, and Strathcona.

End of Meat Rationing Makes Little Difference

Edmonton housewives are taking the removal of meat rationing in their stride, and meat dealers and butchers report no sudden rush in the sales of meat since the Ottawa announcement that meat will no longer be rationed.

Sales are proceeding as usual, most butchers report, with a lessening Thursday, in some cases, in sales of former non-rationed meats, liver, kidneys and fowl.

"Everybody's quite happy about it," said Joe Binder of Ken and Joe's Meat Market, Jasper avenue, "and seem to enjoy buying as much steak and beef, as they wish, with no thought of coupons or tokens."

W. B. Noak, of Queen City meat market, said there was a normal purchase of meat, and a general relaxing of attitude in purchase of favorite cuts of meat. Customers realized they could come in any time, and buy the meat they want, without worrying about using coupons before they expire.

"Normal buying" was the opinion of W. Suss, of Suss Meat Market, 111 avenue, when questioned. He reported, no rush to buy meat as was experienced when rationing first went into effect.

It was "too early" to note any change in demand, reported an employee of the T. Eaton Co. (Western) Ltd. store, who said that up-to-normal purchase of meat was the order of the day. Heavier meats, liver, and other meats might be expected to drop off a little, but that was usual at this time of year.

License Issue Delayed As Extra Levy Forgotten

Issue of license plates to motorists who make application by mail will be delayed this year in many cases, according to officials of the provincial secretary's department. Many applications have not enclosed the extra dollar to go into the "unsatisfied judgement fund."

NO PLATES can be issued to any motorist until the government receives this extra dollar, it is emphasized.

An extra form for applicants for driver's licenses to fill out is being used this year. This is in an attempt to determine whether or not the applicant had been involved in a previous accident.

This form must be filled out and sent in with applications for each driver's license. No extra cost is involved.

There is no relationship between the application for a driver's license and the application for issue of license plates.

IT IS POINTED OUT that the extra dollar is required for every motor vehicle plate issued, including truck and bus licenses, dealer's plates, in-transit permits, license transfers, motorcycles, power-driven scooters and power-driven bicycles.

Clerks of the department are being flooded at present with applications for license plates which they are not able to fill. Motorists are urged to send the extra dollar for their plates and to fill out the questionnaire for driver's licenses before applications are mailed in.

CPR Ordered Expenses Cut

By JOHN LeBLANC
OTTAWA, March 28.—(CP).—The CPR gave orders last year that its expenses were to be cut to the "extreme limit." The Board of Transport Commissioners was told today in the freight-rate inquiry.

ASSISTANT Comptroller S. J. W. Liddy read a letter sent out last year by W. M. Neal, now president and then vice-president, in which he said the company was to go "to the extreme limit in cutting expenses without endangering the service."

F. C. S. Evans, CPR general counsel gave an explanation of the company's relationship with the Ontario and Quebec Railway Company, information on which had been sought by J. J. Frawley, Alberta counsel.

Mr. Frawley had asked why the directorate of the company which receives $1,234,000 in rentals yearly from the CPR, was composed fully of CPR officers when the CPR's accounts showed it held only 50 of the 20,000 outstanding shares in the O. and Q. He also claimed the rental—in the form of interest on the smaller company's securities—was too high.

Mr. Evans said the interest was being paid under a statutory contract made in 1884. Since the securities were perpetual, the interest rates could not be re-negotiated.

Angry Motorist Is Angrier Now

VANCOUVER, March 28.—(CP).—Legal tender or not, 200 pennies are still a lot of pennies.

An astonished police court clerk was yesterday confronted by an angry motorist, who dumped 200 pennies on the counter to pay a parking fine.

The motorist almost went up in smoke when the clerk refused the copper money on the grounds that more than 25 pennies need not be accepted as legal tender.

The unhappy motorist stormed out of the court. He now faces a summons and costs of $2.50 instead of $2.

Ottawa Appoints Foreign Officers

OTTAWA, March 28.—(CP).—External Affairs Minister St. Laurent announced in the Commons yesterday three appointments to fill vacancies in Canada's far-flung foreign service.

THEY WERE: Dr. Henry Laureys, Canadian Ambassador to Peru, becomes Canadian minister to Norway and Denmark. S. D. Pierce, chief of the external affairs department's economic division, becomes Canadian Ambassador to Mexico. Kenneth Alfred Greene, member of an Ottawa general insurance firm, becomes Canadian High Commissioner to Australia.

The appointments all are effective immediately.

Mutilated Will Upheld by Court

VANCOUVER, March 28.—(CP).—The torn, 21-year-old will of the late George Goodwin Norris withstood in appeal court here yesterday a challenge by his widow and three daughters, who remained in England when Norris came to Canada 39 years ago. Also challenging the will was a nephew of Norris, George Goodwin Eaton of Calgary.

THE BULK OF Norris' $20,000 estate was left to Mrs. Frederica Heyman, of West Vancouver, B.C., who had resided with Norris for 33 years at the time of his death in 1942.

Torn fragments of the will were found after Norris' death. Mr. Justice A. M. Harper of the British Columbia supreme court accepted the will, ruling it had been torn unintentionally or in a moment of mental confusion with no thought of revoking it.

The court of appeal sustained Mr. Justice Harper.

Two-Year Term

The good memory of an official of the provincial treasury branch was instrumental in the apprehension of Charles Bright, Edmonton, who was sentenced to two years imprisonment on false pretences charges when he appeared before Magistrate A. I. Miller in city police court Friday morning.
